Cable's 'Captain Midnight' Apprehended

Plea Bargain Gives Florida Man Fine, Probation for Breaking HBO Signal

By Tom Shales
Washington Post Staff Writer

"Captain Midnight," the electronic interloper who startled Home Box Office—and many of its viewers—by briefly interrupting the pay TV network's satellite signal, has been apprehended.

The Federal Communications Commission announced yesterday that John R. MacDougall, a 25-year-old satellite dish dealer and electronics engineer in Ocala, Fla., had confessed to being Captain Midnight and to violating an FCC statute against "broadcasting without a license" when he managed briefly to override the movie HBO was sending its paying customers on April 27 ("The Falcon and the Snowman") and replace it with this printed on-screen message:

"Good evening, HBO, from Captain Midnight. $12.95 a month? No way! Showtime/The Movie Channel, beware."

The message was meant as a protest against HBO's decision to scramble its signal so that it can only be intelligibly received with an expensive decoder. The $12.95

'Captain Midnight' Apprehended

By Lisa Gubernick
Washington Post Staff Writer

Subject to the $5,000 charges from satellite dish owners to receive the signal once a transmitter has been used.

MacDougall, who was described as a part-time employee of the Central Florida Teleport uplink station as well as the owner of his own home dish business, surrendered to the FBI, attorneys's office at the U.S. District Court in Tampa yesterday after being summoned by a grand jury. Accompanied by his lawyer, John M. Green Jr., MacDougall pleaded guilty to the charges after reaching a plea agreement with the prosecutor.

Instead of 4 maximum possible charges and one year and one day in prison, MacDougall will be fined $5,000 and placed on one year of supervised probation, according to the agreement. An FCC spokesman here said the commission will abide by the agreement reached with the attorney's office and has no further penalties.

Gary Ulmer, attorney-adviser with the FCC's field operations bureau, said from Jacksonville that while the FCC seeks convictions of felons to secure Captain Midnight a more severe sentence would not be pursued.

"We don't think he's being let off easy at all," Ulmer said. "He's not a first-time criminal or a repeat offender. It would be unfair and unjust to send a young person to jail for a first offense."

JOHN R. MACDOUGALL

Ulmer said MacDougall had been a dependable source of information when pressed by the Macdougall-Biltmore Estate. The creative flair of theory advanced a covert campaign called the spring offensive, which other agencies began to coordinate their efforts.

From New York, HBO chairman Michael Fuchs and at Washington Headquarters, Chief Executive Officer Gerald Levin issued statements saying they were pleased that the case was resolved.

Fuchs said certain precautions have been taken to make sure the pirate's act against Cinemax and other parts of the future will not occur again. Levin said the FBI's investigation of the incident was "extensive and thorough" and that HBO was pleased that those responsible were caught.

Richard Aredia, editor of Satellite TV Week, a magazine that covers the home dish industry, said from Fairfax, Calif., that Captain Midnight's arrest attracted so much attention among dish owners because they were protected by law. The theft of cable programming is a crime, but the unauthorized reception of satellite signals is not.

"The week after the incident occurred, and while Cinemax and Captain Midnight were the center of attention, people were feeling pretty unfavorable toward dish owners," Aredia said. "It made them seem a representative of all dish owners, but he was the worst one you could ask for who he is."

The Captain Midnight incident is now remembered and regretted, Aredia said, a lingering black mark on the dish industry's reputation.

According to Ulmer, the FCC knew it was at least 10 days after the incident occurred before it began to pursue the case in earnest. Ulmer said investigators suspected by then that Captain Midnight's transmitter was somewhere near the east coast of Florida, because the sky and its satellite could be seen there.

The search team was narrowed down to Florida, Ulmer said, when Captain Midnight, who received information people were feeling pretty unfavorable toward dish owners, began to refer to himself as "we" and "us" in his messages, indicating that he was not working alone.

Ulmer said the FCC team was able to pinpoint the location of the transmitter to Central Florida Teleport and MacDougall's home dish. Then he realized he was "not up to no-good" and set up surveillance.

MacDougall, who was arraigned yesterday and then freed on a $5,000 personal recognizance bond, will be sentenced Aug. 26. In addition to the fine and probation, the FCC will suspend MacDougall's dish earth station for one year, a commission spokesman said.

Documentary, Running on Empty

On Channel 26, an Uninspiring 'Inner Runner'

By Ken Ringle
Washington Post Staff Writer

With the possible exception of those who talk about their therapies, their operations or their divorces, few people are as tediously voluble about their obsessions as runners. Few obsessions, moreover, appear as boring—if not pointless—to the nonobsessed.

The pity is that runners are so passionate about the physical and psychic benefits of their sport they overlook the hedonistic aspects that have been seducing man into motion since Australopithecus ran down his first meal. The best-kept secret in the athletic world is that, once a surprisingly accessible conditioning barrier has been crossed, running becomes not work but play: a serendipitous feast for the senses.

Unfortunately, "The Inner Runner," a half-hour documentary airing tonight on Channel 26 at 10:30, does little to engage its viewers with any such appealing aspects of the sport. Instead it seeks to impress them with the superhuman perseverance of a small group of ultradistance runners in something called the "Chinmoy 24-Hour Race" in New York City in 1982.

It is difficult to imagine a less photogenic contest. In place of the colorful crowds and changing scenery of the country's marathons, or even such ultramarathons as the annual C&O Canal Run, "The Inner Runner" gives us a handful of spectators watching a few people run and walk as many times as they can around a quarter-mile track in 24 hours. Close-ups of pounding Nikes are overlaid with pretentious statements about "self-transcendence" and "discovering what's beyond the physical." Just why the uninitiated should care about all this is never made clear.

Amazingly, coproducers Steven Schecter and Irene Donovan walk right past a half-dozen ways to make their film compelling without ever picking them up. We are introduced visually to Ted Corbitt, a wiry middle-aged black man we are told is "the father of ultradistance running"; a man who has run the astonishing total of 198 marathons. He's obviously a fascinating character, virtually unknown to the world at large, with a stirring story to tell. But the only word we hear from him is "Go!" when he starts the race.

Likewise we meet the event's sponsor, Sri Chinmoy—an Indian-born New Yorker who has become a kind of unofficial guru of long-distance running. "We are always running after happiness," he says. "Man thinks he can be happy only by defeating others . . . But happiness comes only when we transcend our own capabilities."

The documentary toys with that thought a bit, but we learn little more about Chinmoy, and soon we're back to more shots of running feet and self-absorbed runners celebrating their own perseverance.

"Am I in pain or just fatigue?" a runner asks during the program. The viewer soon begins to ask the same question.

War Between the Brewers

Associated Press

BOSTON—A tiny Boston beer company is taking on two giant international brewers, claiming the top European imported beers couldn't be sold in West Germany because they don't meet that nation's beer purity law.

In a series of radio and newspaper ads, Boston Beer Co. has challenged the quality of the Beck's, St. Pauli Girl and Heineken beers sold in this country.

Beck's

a lack of money, not out of a fear of a suit.

"If I were wrong, do you think they would let me get away [with] saying there's something fishy in their beer? They'd squash me like a bug," he said.

Koch said he has proof that Beck's adds sugar to the beer it exp[orts]. He said he sent a German bre[wer] on a tour of Beck's bre[weries] pe[rsonally]

SUCCESSFULLY PROSECUTE CAPTIONED MATTER UNDER TITLE 18 UNITED STATES CODE SECTION 1362, INTERFERENCE WITH GOVERNMENT COMMUNICATION SYSTEM. THE AREA OF CONCERN IS THAT PORTION WHICH READS AS FOLLOWS "MEANS OF COMMUNICATION OPERATED OR CONTROLLED BY THE UNITED STATES OR USED OR INTENDED TO BE USED FOR MILITARY OR CIVIL DEFENSE FUNCTION OF THE UNITED STATES ETC."

NEW YORK HAS IDENTIFIED TWO AREAS WHICH MAY RESOLVE A POTENTIAL CONFLICT WITH THE STATUE. THE FIRST AREA IS THAT OF THE HUGHES CORPORATION OF EL SEGUNDO, CALIFORNIA WHICH IS THE OPERATOR AND ALLEGED PARTIAL OWNER OF THE SATELLITE GALAXY ONE. THE SECOND AREA IS THE UNITED STATES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND MORE RECENTLY UNITED STATES SENATE LIVE TELEVISION BROADCAST ON THE CABLE TELEVISION CHANNEL "C-SPAN", WHICH IS ALLEGED TO BE BROADCAST VIA A TRANSPONDER WHICH IS ON THE SATELLITE GALAXY ONE.

LOS ANGELES WILL CONTACT THE HUGHES CORPORATION AT EL SEGUNDO, CALIFORNIA AND CONFIRMED THAT IT OPERATES AND CONTROLS THE SATELLITE GALAXY ONE AND DETERMINED THE IDENTITY OF ALL OTHER ENTITIES WHICH MAY OWN A PORTION OF THE SATELLITE GALAXY ONE.

WILL CONFIRM THE LOCATION OF GALAXY ONE AT 22,32Ø MILES ABOVE THE EQUATOR AT EITHER 131 DEGREE OR 134 DEGREE WEST LONGITUDE.

WILL IDENTIFY ALL OF THE ENTITIES WHICH RENT TRANSPONDERS ON GALAXY ONE AND THEIR CORRESPONDING TRANSPONDER NUMBER. PARTICULAR EMPHASIS SHOULD BE MADE TO ANY UNITED STATES-GOVERNMENT MILITARY, CIVILIAN OR QUASI GOVERNMENT ENTITIES WHICH MAY USE TRANSPONDERS ON GALAXY ONE. THE ONLY KNOWN ENTITY, THAT MAY BE A QUASI GOVERNMENT ENTITY, WHICH IS ALLEGED TO USE GALAXY ONE IS C-SPAN.

WILL DETERMINE IF THERE ARE ANY CONTINGENT PLANS BY WHICH THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT, WHETHER MILITARY, CIVILIAN OR QUASI GOVERNMENT MAY USE TRANSPONDERS ON GALAXY ONE.

WILL DETERMINE WHAT UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT REGULATIONS, IF ANY, THE HUGHES CORPORATION MUST FOLLOW, REGARDING TRANSMISSIONS OF SIGNALS TO AND FROM GALAXY ONE, WHETHER, FOR THE OPERATION AND CONTROL OF THE SATELLITE OR THE TRANSMISSION OF TELEVISION SIGNALS FROM THE SATELLITE.

WILL DETERMINE IF THE HUGHES CORPORATION OR ANY OF THE CO-OWNERS OF GALAXY ONE ARE STILL INDEPTED TO THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT FOR THE PLACEMENT OF GALAXY ONE INTO ORBIT. WILL ALSO DETERMINE IF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT HAS ANY CONTINGENT OR MORTGAGEOR RELATIONSHIP WITH THE HUGHES CORPORATION OR ANY OF THE CO-OWNERS OF GALAXY ONE RELATING TO THE PLACEMENT OF GALAXY ONE IN ORBIT, WHICH WOULD THEN MAKE THE UNITED STATES GOVERMENT A DEFACTO OWNER OF GALAXY ONE.

WILL DETERMINE IF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT REGULATES ANY OF THE SIGNALS WHICH ARE SENT TO TRANSPONDERS ON GALAXY ONE WHERE THE LESSEE OF THE TRANSPONDER IS A NON UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT MILITARY, CIVILIAN OR QUASI GOVERNMENT ENTITY.

LOS ANGELES WILL PROVIDE RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION TO THE BUREAU, WASHINGTON FIELD AND NEW YORK.

WASHINGTON FIELD WILL CONTACT THE APPROPRIATE "C-SPAN" REPRESENTATIVES AT THE UNITED STATES CAPTIOL BUILDING AND DETERMINE

IF THE C-SPAN SATELLITE CHANNEL IS OWNED, OPERATED OR REGUALTED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT OR BY A QUASI GOVERNMENT ENTITY.

WILL DETERMINE WHAT OBLIGATION C-SPAN HAS TO THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT IN TERMS OF ALLOWING THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMET TO USE ITS FACILITIES TO TRANSMIT SIGNALS TO THE C-SPAN TRANSPONDER ON THE SATELLITE GALAXY ONE.

Answers to FBI Questions

Hughes Communications, Inc. is a wholly owned subsidiary of Hughes Aircraft Company.

Hughes Communications Galaxy, Inc., Hughes Communications Satellite Services, Inc. and Hughes Communications Carrier Services, Inc. are wholly owned subsidiaries of Hughes Communications, Inc..

In answering the questions, "Hughes" means "Hughes Communications, Inc." or any one of its wholly owned subsidiaries.

Paragraph numbers are the same as those on the attached list of questions.

1. Hughes operates and controls the satellite "Galaxy I". The hardware on the Galaxy I satellite which enables radio signals to be received from earth on a specific frequency and retransmitted to earth on another specific frequency is called a "Transponder". There are 24 Transponders on Galaxy I. While a number of Transponders on Galaxy I are owned by banks and other financial institutions under sale leaseback arrangements, the beneficial owners of the Transponders are shown in Table 1.

The beneficial owners have in several instances leased or subleased to other using entities.

2. Galaxy I is located and maintained at 134° west longitude, its assigned orbital position.

3. Refer to Table 1.

4. There are no contingent plans by which the United States Government, whether military, civilian or quasi government may use Transponders on Galaxy I.

5. Hughes must follow the United States Government Regulations regarding transmissions of signals to and from Galaxy I, as to operation and control of the satellite and as to transmission of television signals from the satellite. The Federal Communications Act of 1934 as amended is the basic statute governing these matters. It is carried out and implemented by the Federal Communications Commission.

   Section 301, Title 3, of the Federal Communications Act requires a satellite owner to be licensed to receive signals at the satellite and to transmit signals from the satellite for both those signals which are for communications, including video, and for signals used to control the satellite (telemetry and command). Such a license is granted by the FCC. The license also designates what frequencies are allocated. FCC does not regulate the content of the signals.

Hughes holds this license for Galaxy I even though there are other owners of transponders on the satellite.

As to transmissions to Galaxy I, any ground station owner is required to obtain a license from FCC to send signals to a satellite on particular frequencies. Content of the signals is not regulated. This falls under Section 301 Title 3 of the Federal Communications Act of 1934. FCC Regulation 47CFR Part 25.209 prescribes antenna performance characteristics which must be met as a condition of obtaining a license to transmit to a satellite. Hughes holds the licenses for its ground stations to transmit signals to the satellite for control of the satellite. Transponder owners or users on Galaxy I have the licenses for transmitting video signals (programs) from their ground stations.

6. Hughes and the Transponder owners of Galaxy I are not indebted to the U.S. Government for the placement of Galaxy I into orbit. The United States Government has no contingent or mortgage relationship with Hughes or any of the owners of Galaxy I relating to the placement of Galaxy I in orbit. Galaxy I was launched by NASA in 1983 under contract to Hughes for launch services. The NASA launch services were fully paid for by Hughes.

7. The United States Government does regulate signals sent to Transponders on Galaxy I in the sense that the transmitting entity (non-U.S. Government, military or quasi government) requires a license to transmit on particular frequencies from the ground to a satellite. While the FCC does not control signal content, there are regulations against transmitting without a license or willfully interfering with another's transmissions. Under Section 303 MlE of the Act, FCC has authority to suspend licenses. Under Section 501 criminal sanctions are provided for willful interference with transmissions.
